I want to have the listed user as default when creating a new ticket. The reason is, that I have an application that imports ticket ids to our application. Since I'm using the default view, the user which imports the ticket id is not visible. It has to be my user, or else I don't want to see all my assigned tickets. A: Yes you can set the default view in your trac environment. In addition, you can change the default view in the Infolog Plug-in. You will find both settings in: trac/i18n/ticket.py A: Navigate to trac/i18n/ticket.py. At the top of the file, you will find: View the file as UTF-8. Edit that and add the following line: default_view = 'assigned' This will set the default view to 'assigned'. Q: Declaring a variable as given in Java I have a servlet that generates a call to another servlet, this servlet is where I want the user to be able to change the results of their input. When the user changes the input, the following line of code should be able to hold the variable for the new value. <% String user = request.getParameter("user") This is not doing the job as I am getting a null object. Is there a way to do this? I am still very new to programming, so any help would be much appreciated! A: To maintain in your servlet request parameter of the user, this can be done in two ways. One, save the user data to a separate variable and retrieve them. It is similar to saving the value of your user input. String user = request.getParameter("user");
